

How long does it (really) take to create a Shared Living Solution?

A timeline for families

Partners4Housing
The journey home starts here

The Residential Assessment (RA) is the first step. Most families complete the RA in a week or two. After we review your RA (usually two to three days), we'll schedule a consultation to review and suggest "next steps" to help you maximize your Loved One's benefits. This is a great time to start applying for Section 8 waitlists.

Residential Assessment

1-2 weeks

Roommate Matching Pool

1+ years

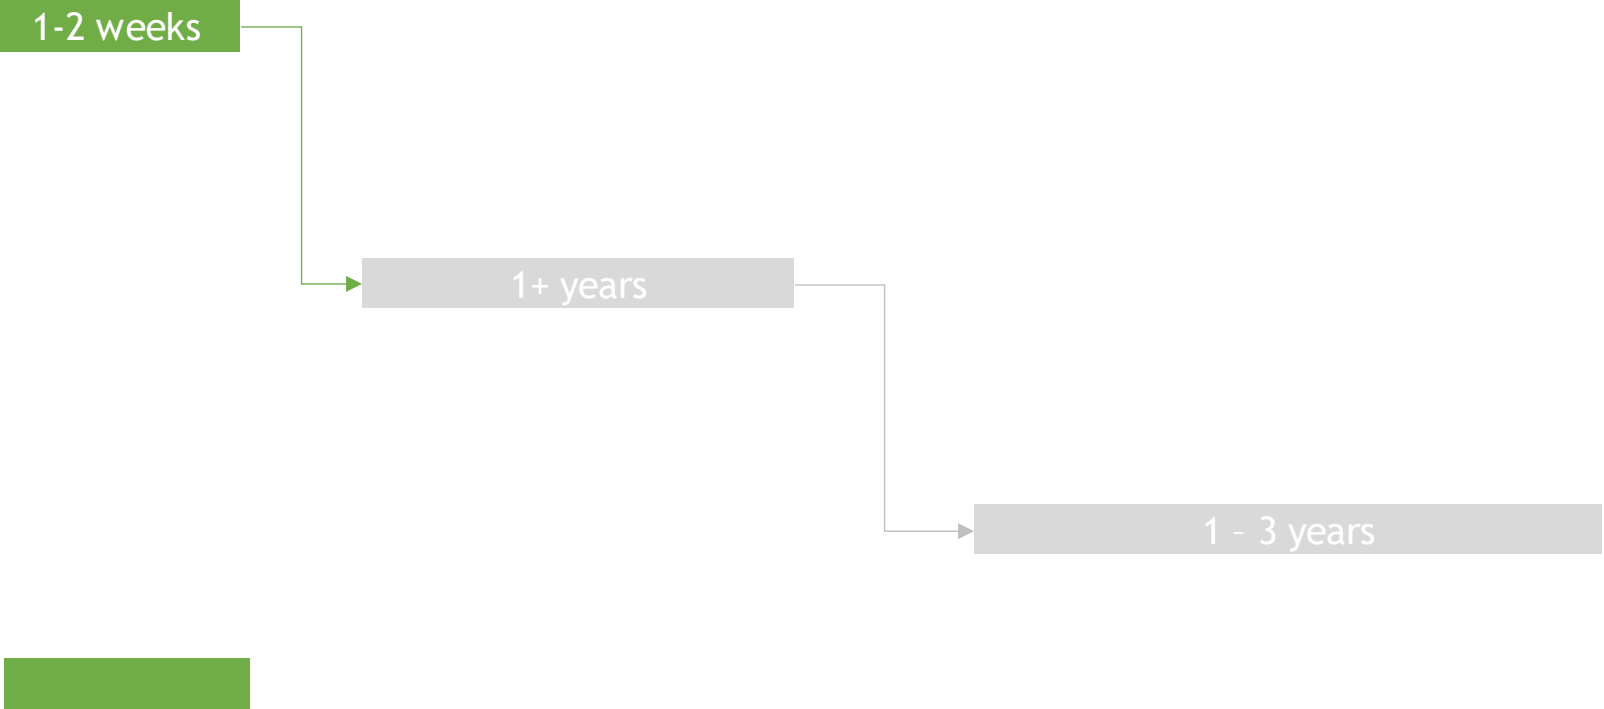

Shared Living Development

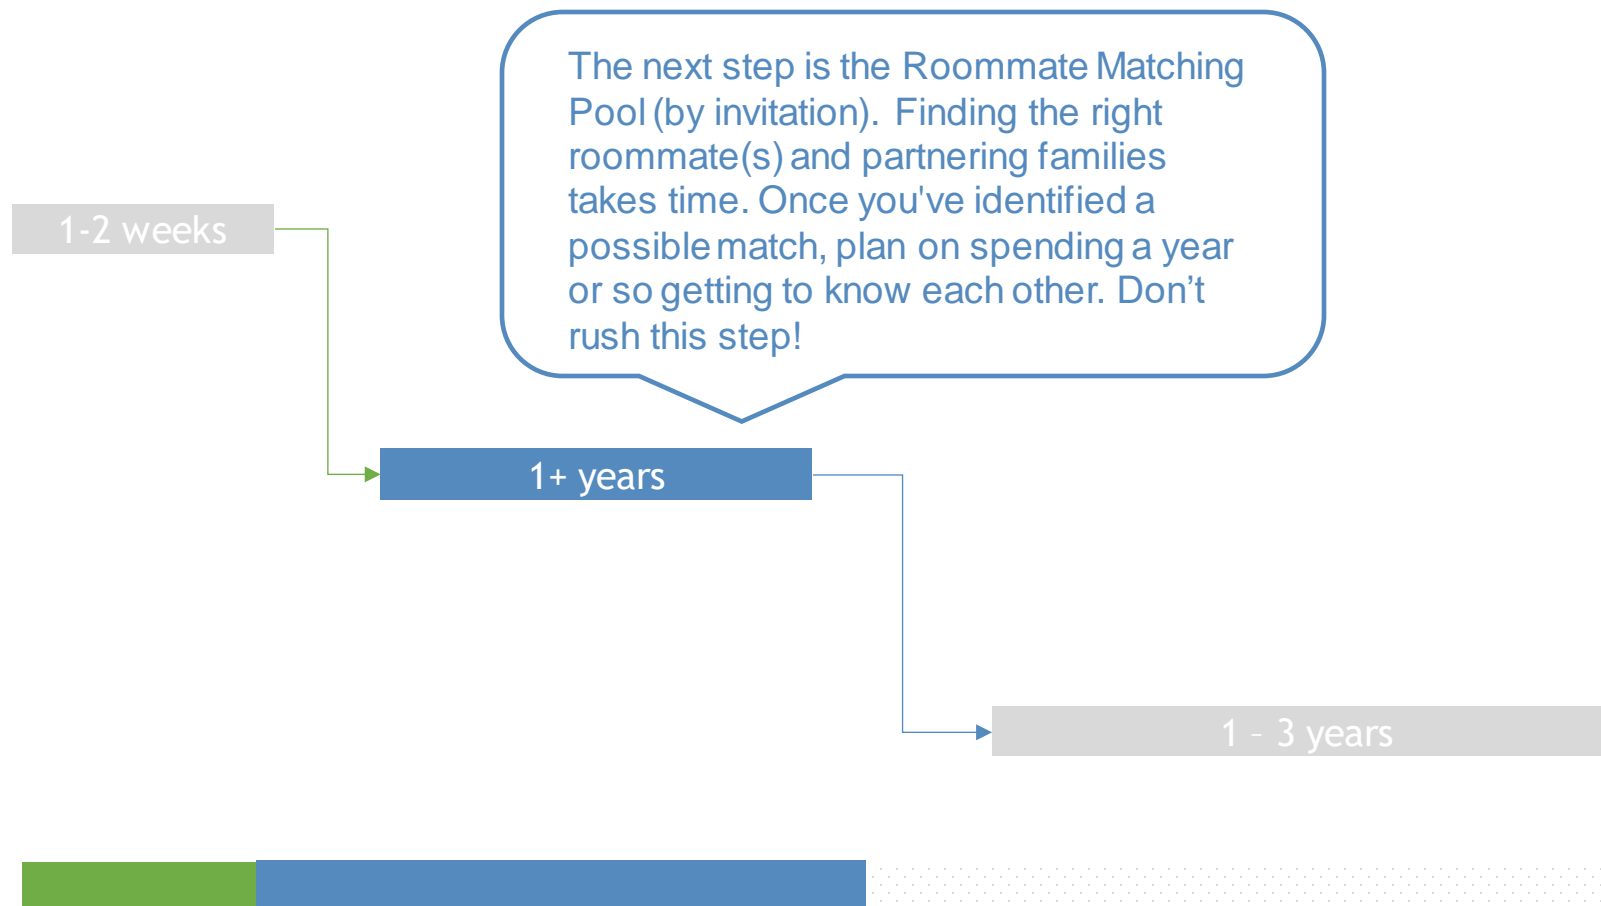

1 - 3 years

Section 8 Voucher

-  Residential Assessment
-  Roommate Matching Pool
-  Shared Living Development
-  Section 8 Voucher

- Residential Assessment
- Roommate Matching Pool
- Shared Living Development
- Section 8 Voucher

1-2 weeks

1+ years

Setting up a shared living solution -- finding housing, hiring caregivers, determining budgets, creating a care plan, etc. -- typically takes at least a year. Some families may take longer.

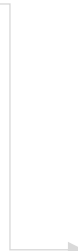

1 - 3 years

1 - 3 years

-  Residential Assessment
-  Roommate Matching Pool
-  Shared Living Development
-  Section 8 Voucher

1-2 weeks

1+ years

We encourage families to start applying for Section 8 waitlists during the Residential Assessment phase. Receiving that voucher can take a very long time. Be patient and be persistent. As long as your Loved One continues to qualify, it's theirs for life.

It takes time to create a housing solution... our best advice is to start early!

Residential Assessment

1-2 weeks

Family completes and submits RA, consults with P4H, starts applying for waitlists and benefits

Roommate Matching Pool

1+ years

Families search for and connect with potential partnering families and spend time getting to know them and their Loved Ones

Shared Living Development

Setting up a shared living solution -- finding housing, hiring caregivers, determining budgets, creating a care plan, etc. -- typically takes at least a year. Some families may take longer.

1 - 3 years

Section 8 Voucher

We encourage families to start applying for Section 8 waitlists during the Residential Assessment phase. Receiving that voucher can take a very long time. Be patient and be persistent. As long as your Loved One continues to qualify, it's theirs for life.